

MANLY WHETSTONES SHOW IN EXHIBIT

Their Growth and Evolution With Developments of Man Illustrated at Old Museum.

The growth and evolution of whetstones with the developments of the arts of man, is illustrated in an exhibit in the division of mineral technology in the old National Museum building.

There is a special form of whetstone for nearly every purpose and these are all shown in the exhibit that embraces proper sharpening stones or abrasives for use in various professions and trades and in household work, in their finished state with photographs showing the methods of mining and manufacture.

Probably the first stone used for abrasive purposes was sandstone, and it is still used today. Its coarse grit and even grain first attracted attention, while the rough edge that it gave was different from that of any other stone. As the progress of the arts began a search for various stones which could be used for sharpening. In the different sorts of stone today, not only sandstones, but mica schists, slates, and emery stones are used, besides several artificial compounds.

Found in Arkansas.

The hard, white, compact sandstones found near Hot Springs, Ark., are among the best whetstones known, equalling, if not surpassing, the Turkey stone which for years has been considered one of the best. This Arkansas stone is known as Novaculite, and occurs in two or three grades, intended for use with certain tools. The hard, flint-like stone should be used only to sharpen instruments made of the very best steel, requiring very keen edges and points, such as those used by surgeons, dentists, and jewelers. The other grades, although composed of the same ingredients, are more porous than the novaculite and are used for sharpening coarser tools. Because of their more porous nature, these stones cut faster, proving suitable for the finer tools of carpenters, machinists, and engravers, and for honing razors.

Indiana and Ohio supply a whetstone made from a sandstone of a coarser grain than the novaculite of Arkansas, but nevertheless quite uniform. It may be used for sharpening household cutlery, penknives or ordinary carpenter's tools. But since it is easily cut and ground by hand and sharp steel, the fine instruments of dentists and surgeons should not be edged or pointed on this stone.

Composed of Mica.

Synthetic and moving machine stones are practically all made from mica schist, a rock found in New Hampshire and Vermont. These rocks are generally of a dark gray color, and composed of very thin sheets of mica and quartz crystals interlaminated. The grit of the schist is not as sharp as that of the novaculite, because it contains foreign material other than silica which prevents the quartz grains from abrading freely. Mica schist stones wear down quickly from constant use—an advantage rather than a disadvantage, for as they wear down, more of the hard silica grains are exposed to do the sharpening. Neither oil nor water is needed to keep the pores of the stone open, as with other whetstones, and the mica schist stones with their fine, polished edges are made into carpenter's bench stones.

A simple experiment made about fifteen years ago led to the discovery of carborundum and crysolum. By heating a mixture of salt, sand, sawdust, and powdered coke in an electric furnace, the variegated colored crystals of carborundum and crysolum were produced.

These crystals are extremely hard, cutting glass easily and, in fact, all most any substance except the diamond; are intensely sharp, and infusible at any known heat—properties peculiarly adaptable for grinding purposes and for refractory materials. The carborundum and crysolum crystals are removed from the electric furnace after a thirty-six-hour run, washed with a dilute solution, ground, and sized. Eight or ten different sizes of grains are obtained, and a corresponding number of grades of wheels and stones are made from them.

Mixed Into Paste.

The graded grains of these substances are mixed into a paste with a bond of porcelain, water glass, or rubber, and molded into many varied forms of stones and wheels. After air drying, the raw wheels are put into kilns and baked, and are then ready for use. There are wheels for all kinds of work, varying from three feet in diameter for use in foundries, to one-quarter inch for dental work.

Besides the wheels, these hard, sharp crystals are made into razor and knife hones, paste for valve grinding, and glued to cloth to be used like sand and emery paper. The crystal grains are used by gem and stone cutters, and for sawing building stones.

Emery cloth and paper are very well-known commodities, but are little used today because the artificial abrasives are just as effective and cheaper. Experiments to obtain an artificial product having the same qualities as the natural emery resulted in the making of alundum and aloxite, both of which are shown in the museum series.

London Woman Police Praised as Efficient

LONDON, March 12.—The corps of women police in London, numbering fifty, is doing good work, says Mrs. Edith Watson, one of its organizers.

The most important point, she said, was that the regular police had welcomed them and asked for their help in a variety of ways.

Courses were held on various subjects, but the most valuable qualities were tact and discretion. In fact, Watson had been doing in helping soldiers and refugees at railway stations, and children on their way to and from school through the dark streets had been assisted and protected.

Fire Is Still Raging In Dakota Mine Pit

BISMARCK, N. D., March 12.—Telephone messages early today confirmed the statement that the fire raging in the abandoned lignite pit in Adams county still is beyond control.

The flames are sweeping 10 to 20 feet high above the entrance. The pit will be flooded and then if possible water will be pumped into it. A party of the mine men are working to extinguish the fire.

WOMEN NAMED IN MAYO'S LIFE

MRS. VIRGINIUS J. MAYO, alleged to have been his first wife and the mother of a daughter.

MRS. FLORENCE WEEKS MAYO, of Scranton, Pa., alleged wife No. 2, who insists she married Mayo, a reputed bachelor in 1890, and had three daughters.

MRS. VIRGINIUS J. MAYO of New Haven, Conn., his present wife.

"MRS. DUDLEY"—Lois Waterbury—of Brooklyn—Mayo's former stenographer and alleged mother of two children as his "love wife."

LILLIAN MAY COOK, formerly of Brooklyn, Mayo's stenographer, who shot herself last week.

SUSAN M. WAHLERS, of New Haven, who claims alleged relations with Mayo as his former stenographer.

Funerals

William H. Walton.

The funeral of William H. Walton will be held Monday afternoon from Schipper's undertaking rooms. Members of Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101, I. O. U. will have charge of the services, and interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mrs. Viola L. Thomas.

The funeral of Mrs. Viola L. Thomas, widow of Prof. Cyrus Thomas, will be held this evening at 7 o'clock from her residence, 3025 Fifteenth street northwest. Interment will be in Frederick, Md., tomorrow.

J. Orville Johnson.

The funeral of J. Orville Johnson, eighty-one years old, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Foster Causey, 221 Tenth street southeast, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Wright's chapel.

George W. Allison.

The funeral of George W. Allison will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. Andrew's Church. Interment will be in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Cora Hassel.

The funeral of Mrs. Cora Hassel, wife of George H. Hassel, was held this afternoon from Hinde's Chapel. The body will be taken to Springfield, Ohio, for interment.

Mrs. Luvie Jones Butler Moore.

The funeral of Mrs. Luvie Jones Butler Moore, wife of Capt. D. T. Moore, U. S. A., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Butler, 174 R street northwest. Interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Bostonian Lectures on Hebrew Emancipation

Speaking on "The Emancipation of the Hebrew," before the Ahavas Zion Society, at 1223 Sixth street northwest, last night, Aaron Pruslan, of Boston, predicted that one of the results of the European war will be a greater national individualism. He said that the outburst of the Belgians against the Germans will never be repeated in history.

Why Duffy's Pure Malt

The graded grains of these substances are mixed into a paste with a bond of porcelain, water glass, or rubber, and molded into many varied forms of stones and wheels. After air drying, the raw wheels are put into kilns and baked, and are then ready for use. There are wheels for all kinds of work, varying from three feet in diameter for use in foundries, to one-quarter inch for dental work.

is a Medicinal Whiskey

Authorities generally agree that good, pure whiskey possesses medicinal value. Both as a stimulant and tonic its use by professional and laity is widespread.

Because of this fact the U. S. Pharmacopoeia (the Government authority on medicines and their proper preparation) has established a standard of purity for medicinal whiskey.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey meets the Government Standard and is even higher—obtained only then is a refined distillate, properly aged to acquire smoothness and flavor, without noxious substances to disturb or irritate the stomach or nervous forces.

These are reasons why Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey does not even taste like other whiskeys; why Duffy's is recognized generally as the one medicinal whiskey; and why, when you need a real tonic and stimulant, you should remember to "Get Duffy's and Keep Well."

For the aged, for those who are "run down," for persons suffering with nervous disorders, nervousness, indigestion, or general run-down of the whole system, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey brought quick and positive results. It's "a medicine for all mankind."

Sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY. Beware of imitations.

Note

Get Duffy's from your local druggist, grocer or dealer, $1.00 per bottle. If he cannot supply you, write us; we will tell you where to get it. Medical booklet free.

SIX WOMEN ON TRAIL OF VIRGINIUS MAYO

They Come From Three States. New Haven Millionaire Remains in Closest Seclusion.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 12.—Six women were today enrolled in the trail of heart affairs of Virginius J. Mayo, New Haven millionaire.

They came from at least three States. The identity of some remains a mystery. With others, Mayo's alleged relations are still clouded in a tangle of assertions and denials.

Pennsylvania authorities are investigating charges of Mrs. Virginius Mayo, of Scranton, that she was Mayo's second wife. They also sought to unfold identity of the alleged former wife, whom the Scranton woman asserted died.

The Scranton Mrs. Mayo was reported prostrated and confined to her bed today. She has retained counsel. The present Mrs. Mayo, of New Haven, while refusing to indicate her probable course of action, was reported to be planning a divorce suit.

Mayo was further involved by Miss Susan M. Wahlers, of New Haven, who claims relations with the millionaire. She killed herself last week, it was reported, after Mayo had been reported to have been in her home.

Mayo continued in closest seclusion. He has practically abandoned his club and authorized discussion of his case only through his lawyers.

Woman Killed Husband, Son, and Self, Police Say

NEWARK, N. J., March 12.—The bodies of William Bradley, shot through the head; his five-year-old son, William, Jr., shot through the heart, and that of Mrs. Bradley with a bullet wound in the head, were found by neighbors who entered the Bradley home.

The police believe that Mrs. Bradley shot her husband and son during a quarrel and then killed herself. The bodies were found in the kitchen, the boy's on a bedroom couch, and Mrs. Bradley's on the bedroom floor. A revolver was under Mrs. Bradley's body.

Du Ponts to Make War Munitions in Virginia

NEW YORK, March 12.—Credence is lent to the report that the Du Ponts are getting the bulk of their munition from this country, by a statement issued by Pierre S. du Pont, president of the du Pont Powder Company, admitting the receipt of huge war orders.

Details of the orders are withheld as being confidential, but it is admitted that they are so large that they have necessitated erection of additional factories at James river, Virginia, for their manufacture.

Crop Estimate Bureau Gives Out Wheat Report

Country mills and elevators now hold about 85,000,000 bushels of wheat, as compared to 94,000,000 bushels a year ago, and 118,000,000 bushels two years ago, according to estimates made by the Bureau of Crop Estimates.

Among the States, Washington holds the largest amount, 6,800,000, as against 5,500,000 a year ago.

A year ago in the United States 12.3 per cent was held; this year 9.7 per cent.

Stork Visits Whitmans.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12.—The stork visited the executive mansion for the second time in history, and left Governor Whitman smiling. It was a happy boy, the governor's second child. Mrs. Whitman and the new arrival are doing famously.

Salmon Day on Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—This is Salmon day on the Pacific coast. In recognition of one of the great industries of the whole coast, country banquets and luncheons are being held in all the larger Alaskan, British Columbia and Pacific coast cities. Dining cars issued by the Pacific coast railway and this city served a canned salmon menu.

This is third annual observance of canned salmon day. The idea of the observance is to foster and encourage the salmon industry.

Why Florida Oranges and Grapefruit are Superior

Sunshine is the prime factor in growing fruits—they must have it in abundance. In Florida, as nowhere else, the life-giving sun sheds its glories on thousands of orange and grapefruit groves while the fruit is developing and ripening.

Only tree-ripened oranges and grapefruit are good. Citrus fruits are never picked by the conscientious growers of Florida until fully ripe. Then the consumer gets only mature, mellow-looking globes, filled with juice that is liquid gold.

None but white-gloved workers handle oranges and grapefruit in the packing houses of the Florida Citrus Exchange. This organization of progressive growers was formed for the mutual protection of themselves and of consumers of the fruit.

Good oranges and grapefruit alone are packed for shipment in Exchange houses. Across the end of each house is painted in large letters "Every doubtful orange is a cull; don't pack culls." The fruit is washed and scrubbed, enclosed by white-gloved workers in tissue paper wrappers.

The trade mark of the Florida Citrus Exchange is a guarantee of quality and a protection against unripe oranges and grapefruit. Ask your dealer for Exchange fruit and look for its mark in red on boxes and wrappers.

Urge Military Camp For G.W.U. Students

Weekly Publication Supports Plan of Summer Training of War Department.

Students of George Washington University have joined in the demand for a more effective national defense and The Hatchet, the weekly student publication, in its current issue prints an editorial urging the students to take advantage of the summer instruction camps maintained by the War Department.

"We do not desire to put ourselves forward as proponents of militarism," reads the editorial, "but we do believe in some preparation for the public defense. We believe the annual military camps for the military training of college students are rendering a valuable return to the country.

"We are not militarists. We are not jingoists. We need not go so far as to say that war involving this country is probable. We state an obvious fact when we say such a war is possible. College men must aid in providing insurance against such a possibility."

Refuses to End the "Hit-Em-on-the-Head"

ALBANY, March 12.—Coney Islanders will not lose the pleasurable thrill of throwing baseballs at a colored man's head. A bill to prohibit colored men as targets was defeated in the senate.

Three German Generals Are Retired by Kaiser

THE HAGUE, March 12.—The Kaiser has decided to place three generals—Von Glesener, Von Grawert and Von Dehm—on the retired list, because he holds these generals responsible for the recent German loss on the Niemen.

The German public knows nothing of the defeat.

Farmer's Wife Earns Car.

CULVER, Kan., March 12.—Last summer before D. H. Knott threshed his wheat he decided to hold the crop for a higher price. He built granaries and repaired others on his farm, and he secured his wife's services in assisting. When the work was completed Mrs. Knott said, "Now, husband, what am I to get for my services?"

"Well, when wheat reaches $1.50 I will sell and we will have a motor car," was the answer.

The wheat is sold and Mrs. Knott is waiting for the automobile.

Well Understood.

PILING UP EVIDENCE OF ELECTION PLOT

Government Places on Stand Other Witnesses to Corruption in Terre Haute.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 12.—Witnesses who have confessed to conspiring with Mayor Donn M. Roberts and others to corrupt the election of Terre Haute, were placed on the stand today by the Government in its first attempt to punish election corruption conspirators.

In the next few days the Government will place higher and higher the evidence to show that a conspiracy existed," said District Attorney Frank C. Bailey.

The Government today shifted from Ed Holler, former police chief, to repeaters, who told of novel methods at the polls.

John Bruns said he registered falsely "six or seven times," and added: "When I went into vote in my own precinct, Enos Harms, city hall custodian, was standing near the voting machine, holding a long stick. When I came up he struck down every Democratic key with the stick, and another man slammed down the lever. Not a word was said. Harms gave me a check, and I cashed it in Buster Clarke's saloon."

Jess Kilpatrick said he was employed by Roberts to drive an automobile. There was a laugh when Kilpatrick testified that Hilton Redman, son of Judge Redman, told him to keep away from repeaters.

"Did he tell you where these fellows would be?" District Attorney Bailey asked him.

"Well, he told me to keep away from Democratic headquarters," said Kilpatrick.

During the testimony of former Chief of Police Holler, who had pleaded guilty, the defense by Attorney Stanley objected to a recital of a conversation between Holler and Jack Hines, a Tenderloin ward boss.

Stanley contended a conspiracy has not been established. Finally the court asked if Mr. Stanley's position was that a conspiracy had not been established, Stanley answered yes, and Judge Anderson said: "I say it has."

Mayor Roberts told me to make out about 2,500 registration applications for the last election," Holler testified.

Well Understood.

Village Election Due But No Candidates

Model and Modest Officials Have Not Even Filed Their Nomination Papers.

NORTHPORT, L. I., March 12.—This village is so well pleased with its officials that, although the annual election comes on Tuesday evening, not a single man has come forward to compete with them for their jobs.

The model officials are: President, Samuel Robbins; treasurer, John K. Semmis; collector, Frank Gardner; trustees whose terms expire, William Carl, Jr., and B. H. Blydenburgh.

So modest are these officials that they have not taken advantage of the law requiring petitions of candidates to be filed within fifteen days of the election. Their names will have to be written upon the ballots, or Northport will awake on Wednesday morning with no president or other officials.

The annual budget for running the village's affairs amounts to $400.

General Scott Fails to Pacify Ute Indians

BLUFF, Utah, March 12.—The party of eight deputies believed to have been ambushed by the rebellious Ute Indians near Douglas Mesa, have not yet been heard from. Marshal Nebeker has sent out parties to look for them.

It is expected that Marshal Nebeker will advance against the Indians Saturday. General Scott's efforts to effect peace have been unsuccessful.

A Ute who came into Bluff today said that the Indians had procured plenty of ammunition from Mexican sheep herders.
